Campus High School Programs

Linn-Benton Community College offers two ways to take college classes. Students can take credit classes that lead to a degree or certificate, or they can take non-credit classes for personal enrichment.

Taking LBCC Credit Classes For High School Credit
High school students are encouraged to learn how they can take LBCC credit classes on the college campus and begin earning a college degree while applying the credits toward their high school diplomas.

This benefits students, so they can:
- Start their college programs early
- Take classes not available at the high school
- Take courses they don’t have time to take during the high school day (some LBCC classes are offered in the evening)

Students can sign up for the number of classes that best fits their needs - anywhere from taking one class to going full-time on the LBCC campus. The high school counselor must provide permission and can help students decide how many classes are appropriate. The program has strict deadlines. Check with high school counselors about sign-up timelines.
