Letter from the President

Dear community,

As I write this letter, the leaves have mostly fallen and our evenings are getting darker earlier. Winter has a way of pulling us indoors and out of the cold. I have always thought this is the perfect time of year to try something new or pick up an old hobby.

We are adding several art classes this winter, with options in charcoal, acrylics, chalk, and watercolor. These classes are open to beginners and to anyone returning to art after a few years away. I know that for many of you, an art class is a nice way to stay dry and get through the rainy months with others who share your interests.

If your creativity lives in the kitchen instead of at the easel, our cooking lineup has some fresh additions that I think will catch your eye (and your stomach!). For those of you with a sweet tooth, I hope you'll check out Easy as Pie! and Chocolate Lovers Dream. And if you're in more of a savory mood, Classic Paella & Risotto might be just the class for you.

Linn-Benton Community College cultivates an environment for success through inclusive education and community engagement. I see that mission at work every term in Community Education, where neighbors come together to learn side by side. These classes welcome everyone, regardless of age or experience, and I'm proud of that. I am interested in some of these cooking classes and hope that you might be too! It is always nice to have some new fall meals before we revisit our traditional winter favorites.

Whatever you have planned for the months ahead, we would love to see you in one of our classrooms as we continue to welcome our community through Education for All.

Thanks,

Lisa Avery
